

I told the students at the opening ceremony that for this year's goal, I want you to remember to "take actions" and "move". Although, right after this announcement, school had to be closed and we were required to stay home instead.

Because of the staggered schedule they came to school 2 times a week but most of the days they stayed home. In this staying home mood, there are things that you can do at home, and so we urged all students to help with "house work". As they help out, it gave them opportunities to think about how hard these household chores are, how great their parents are and that you are part of the family. Reading the students comments to our school news and Moral News paper's "Let's withstand the Corona", I found many good words that showed that students had learned and noticed many new things.

Disneyland is known for its warm hospitality and we hear many good stories about them. During the Tohoku earthquake, they gave out all the dolls which were displayed at the shops so that they could use it to "protect their heads" Also, custodial casts used the puddles for drawing characters on the ground. These responsive actions were praised by people and these actions were not something that were manualized but something that they did spontaneously. These actions were taken not only to show "omotenashi" but an action taken with "compassion to the others". In Disneyland, they say that there are about 2000 full-time staff and 18000 part time staff. Most of the full-time staff are working backoffice so all the workers we meet at the park are 100% part time workers. These temporary workers took these responsive actions on their own. These actions were done so that they could make the customers feel safe and happy.

It is said that "the actions that exceed expectation move people's hearts". Compassion moves people, and as they accumulate, it connects to their happiness. During this staying home period, I hope students took all their actions independently exceeding their expectations (like doing house work). I hope you can impress people by looking at the people around you and take actions for them. I want you to know that, even though you are still children, there are many things you can do as junior high school students. In order to act, you need a good perception. We would like to give them opportunities to let them feel, think and act under many circumstances. We are the only junior high school in the town, so I want this school to be the place where "the students are visible to our community".

For safety and precaution towards the Corona virus, many regulations and reduction will still be required. We would like to think together and overcome this situation. We ask all parents for further cooperation.

◆Report card hand out day is postponed to the first week of August.

To compensate what we could not do from April and May, we would like to use days in July as much as possible. For this reason, we changed the report card hand out day. We will notify the exact schedule when it is decided.

Mask making day

In the home economics class, students challenged on making their own masks. They really concentrated and worked on it seriously. Step ① Is it going to be hard?(listening to the explanation) ② What is it going to be like?(start making)③Little by little it started looking like a mask! ④ They even ironed their masks(they weren't used to using irons.) ⑤Yes!It's "done" (We took pictures of the whole class)

Hometown learning 「I hope it grows・・・」

1st grade students inoculated (planting fungus) "Noto 115 mushrooms" during their integrated study hour. They first listened to the instructions from the JA staff and ...let's start! Due to the Corona virus, we did not drill holes but we all worked hard so that we can grow them this year. "Hoping they will grow big!!" by fall.

☆We'll make use of it. Thank you very much!!

Donation of an "Infrared thermometer" was made from Takada electronics, "face shields" were given by Maruoka clinic to the teaching staff and "100 hand made masks" were given by the town's council of social welfare. We'll make use of these donations. We truly appreciate your kindness.

As an infection prevention, morning health checkups, class seating/ lunch seating/ ventilating rooms, disinfecting each and every place that is used, washing hands and gargling throats after club activities and doing proper training menu for the clubs. We make sure all students can spend time in school safely. We ask all parents to take temperatures every morning so that students can turn in the health slip at the main entrance.

Due to the current situation, we would like to postpone the open class day and PTA activities. Thank you for your understanding.
