

The 2021 school year started with new 43 first-year students and 147 students in total. With a new grade, a new class, I imagine that you are filled with fresh hope and enthusiasm. This year, for the students to receive a more specified curriculum we have introduced the use of a vice classroom coordinator. We will support our students with the eyes of as many teachers as possible. In the moral class, our vice classroom coordinator will also be teaching you a few times, too.

In addition, due to the corona disaster that has been going on since last year, educational activities will start with a lot of restrictions, but the school will take all possible measures to prevent corona to hold various events. We will be conducting educational activities so that students can learn well, take on various challenges and make effort each day.

This year, we would like to value 3 “Co” s.

First is “co-learning”. In school, we learn various things through the relationships between people. By communicating with each other, listening to each other, teaching each other, interacting with each other, and deepening each other's thoughts, we can create new insights and learn from each other. Let's communicate our ideas to each other and enhance our mutual learning.

Second is “co-habiting”. We need to value and respect the good in others. Please be a person that shares joys and troubles with your friends. However, it doesn't mean you should accept everything. You should be able to say to each other, "No, that's not right." We plead the students to refrain from harmful words as each person has their own self-value, and that they should acknowledge the genuineness in everyone.

And the third is “co-existing”. Please make our school a brighter place by cheerful greetings. And for each and every one of us here to co-exist, you should be willing to take on challenges. In our school, there are many activities that will expand your possibilities. You will be able to shine by challenging yourself to do many things and persevering to the end, your efforts will be rewarded. Let's work together to create a school that “co-exists” with a vibrant energy and smiles in the classroom.

Today we have started our new day, but we will be needing further support from all the parents to fight against Corona. Once again, I would like to ask for your understanding and cooperation in our school's educational activities. I hope that all of our students will work hard to achieve their goals and grow even more in the coming year. Let's work hard together. Principal Katsuhiro Takada

All schedules will be shortened. Please do understand that meetings may be cancelled or be approved through paper work depending on the present situation.

The 2021 school year has started and on April 1st, we welcomed eight new teachers to our school. With a new spirit and new goals, we will work hard with these new members. We would like to ask for the continued cooperation and support from our parents.
