

Let's show our gratitude

In our school, we value "real life experiences" and "testing our limits". As like last year, we continued to promote a day of "helping our families" during 'Golden Week'. Through a survey, we saw that students come realize that:

- I thought my mom really works hard.(many students)
- The word "thank you" feels more relevant .(many students)
- Unexpectedly cooking together was more fun than I thought.(many students)

For children, at first, helping out may be troublesome. However, once they try it, they come to a new realization. In actual fact, one must try things out themselves to understand the situation. We should always take what people have said or written on the internet with a grain of salt. Thus, making the right judgment through using filters is very important. Whatever you hear is not what it seems. In school, the theme for moral education right now is "how we should think and move". 'Listen⇒See⇒Try⇒Think⇒Make the next move'. We all know that 'greetings' and 'being considerate' is important, but actions speak louder than words. A salesman values greeting and courtesy as it allows them to have better relationships with their clients.

Things are not always what they seem to be; attending school and club activities, getting up and making breakfast, doing the laundry, etc., are all things that children need support in.

It's even more necessary now during the pandemic. From parents helping out with the health checks every morning, to the organizations that have made donations, (this includes pensioners who help with sanitizing the school, and the bureau, and others) we thank you for your support.

Due to corona, physical interactions have dwindled; that is why, showing our gratitude is more important than ever. Even though things have not gone as planned because of corona, we come to realize that consideration and thoughtfulness matters.

June 10th is 'Time Memorial Day'. Let's try thinking about using our time wisely,

Principal Katsuhiko Takada

"Giga" program will start!

June 1st marks the first year of "Giga" school program in Anamizu junior high school. Giga stands for Global and Innovation Gateway for All, meaning everyone has the chance to be part of the global innovation. By providing each child a tablet computer and a high-speed, high-capacity communication network environment, it will be possible to do the e-learning to broaden our horizon more than before. Children are currently practicing how to start and reboot the system. (Everyone is very curious about learning how to use it.)

◇First semester slogan is waiting for you at the entrance!

◇Thank you for your message!

On Monday, May 24, we held an evacuation drill assuming the strike of an earthquake and a fire disaster at the same time. We all hid under our desks→A fire broke out in the kitchen, and we immediately evacuated to the second gym.
→Staff ran to the kitchen with a fire extinguisher. You never know when or where a disaster will occur. However, we know that drills like this will help the children make the right decision and action in times of emergency.

◇Prompt Actions required!
