Anamizu Junior high school

December

Have you ever heard of the saying, “Constant raindrops wear away the stone” ?

“Raindrops” is something that drips from the eaves. Also, “wear away” means to steadily dig in to things. The phrase “wear away the stone”, therefore means that waterdrops are weak but it can dig into a hard stone and make a hole. This can also be said to our daily lives. Despite our weak strength, we can constantly make efforts and the result will turn out great.

There were many happy results thanks to these steady efforts. Our boy’s kendo club won the Noto championship for the first time in our history and our student council received the youth volunteering award. (You can check our numbers of awards on the back-side result section.)

If you stop working hard, because you cannot earn good results, all your effort that you made would be wasted. Hard work will pay off. If you have a goal or a dream, it is important that you constantly make efforts to fulfill it. I cannot make promises about the results but I can assure you that you will be much closer to your goal.

Ichiro once said “I am not a genius, but I am a genius at making effort.” In fact, he would be the first person to be at the practice, he would spend more time practicing fielding hitting and running than any other teammate to prepare for his games.

It is truly hard to stick to your plan and do it. We tend to say, “I can do it tomorrow” and leave it aside. It is up to you whether you can make efforts and overcome your weaknesses. Our 3rd graders are entering the high school entrance exam season. Test scores=quantity×quality. For 1st and 2nd graders, it is up to you to make efforts during this winter so that you will have good results in your clubs and on your tests for the next spring. Again, “constant raindrops wear away the stone”. Let’s be the water hitting the stone.

It is finally the 2nd grader’s turn to run the student council. Our school slogan for the 2nd term was set on our main entrance. I hope the 2nd graders will take over what our 3rd graders have built and liven up our school.

Memorable photos: Looking back, we learned and experienced many things in November!!

On November 5th, we had a moral education open school day and Internet trouble avoidance lecture. We thank all our parents for your attendance. You may check what the class was like in our moral education photo section.

1st graders were able to experience the wheel chair, eye-mask and Boccia (an adaptive sport) thorough welfare lecture.

Student council members actively joined the red feather donation program. And were calling out 「Donation please!!」

On November 20th, we had lectures about bullying and human rights and we were able to deepen our thoughts together.

On November 21st, our 1st graders went on a field trip to learn about our local areas. “Satonabi-san” (a local volunteer) guided us and we learned many new things.

December goal

Let's summarize our 2nd semester goals!

☆Effort goal

- *Let's keep your composure in the classroom
- *Concentrate on cleaning • Don't talk and do it thoroughly
- * Summarize your 2nd semester and plan your winter vacation ahead • Get ready for the new year
- *Follow the traffic rules when commuting
 - Be careful when there is snow

On November 21st, a new crosswalk was set in front of our school to help students' commuting safer.
