

A letter of challenge from your principal [stage 1(1st semester)] ~ Can you pass this stage?~

A month has passed in a blink of an eye since the first semester has started. How has the past month been like for you? First-year students are getting used to school life as junior high school students, second-year students are acting more like senior students, and third-year students are now in charge of organizing the first and second-year students. We have seen a lot of hard work from all of you during the past month.

So now, let me give you a challenge from the school principal. In life, it's important to have a goal(task) and to challenge it. Through this process we can make progresses. I would like you to challenge on these goals that I have set for you during the first semester.

[1st grade] ...Be able to do what is necessary

[2nd grade] ...Be able to support the 3rd graders and carry on the tradition

[3rd grade] ...Be the leader. You represent your school.

Challenge

And this year I would like to give a challenge to the teachers as well.

【To our teachers】

① “Learn together” and “accept each other”

Student's communication and activity time > Teacher's speaking time

② “Shine together”

Make more opportunities for students to interact with the community

The leading actors of “learning together” “accepting each other,” and “shining together” are the students of this school. Teachers will support them. By completing the goals of this first stage, many “Ai”(togetherness) will be created. Let's keep this goal in mind and make this a fulfilling first semester.

Welcoming the new students, the 2nd and 3rd year students introduced their club activities. By watching the actual practice of each club, the first-year students were able to confirm whether they can continue their club activities for the next three years. Currently, first-year students are already practicing hard together with 2nd and 3rd year students in their clubs. They have already participated in the latest Okunoto Tournament, where they competed with 2nd and 3rd year students from other schools. After this, all the clubs will work continue working hard for their Noto Regional Tournament in June.

Traffic safety campaign together police and Life committee

Wednesday, April 13th

Since last school year, Anamizu Junior High School has been calling for traffic safety as a "Traffic Safety Awareness Support School". On the evening of the 13th, 3rd graders from the Life Committee stood at the Kompira intersection and called for traffic safety. It was a very valuable experience for them to be picked up and dropped off by a police car and talked about the importance of this campaign. We would like to continue this activity in many ways.
