

A wide-angle photograph of a gymnasium where a group of students in dark blue tracksuits are practicing a synchronized movement routine. They are arranged in several rows, with some students in the foreground performing a crouching pose. The gym floor is polished wood with yellow and green court lines. In the background, there are wooden bleachers and a red banner with Japanese text. A teacher or adult is visible in the background, observing the students.

